The Message

Synopsis

On Christmas Day, 1998, Lance Richardson was involved in an accident which later left him in a comatose state for several weeks. While his body was being kept alive by medical support equipment, his spirit passed into the world beyond. In "The Message," Lance describes his experience in the world of spirits and delivers to us a message giving a greater understanding of the importance of families and the future of America. He was also taught concerning a most important principle of their society of peace, which, if followed by the people of this great nation, would rescue us from self-destruction.

Customer Reviews

If you are seeking an explanation of what comes next, after we pass from this mortal existence, then the author will give you a glimpse of the Spirit World as he briefly explains the most important experiences that were impressed upon his mind. Specific detail is not as important as knowing how to make the most of this earthly life, and that there is a life beyond. But, the most important part of this book is the actual message that the author left with the world:(1) "We have turned away from the morals and values which once made us strong.(2) We have adopted a belief that, all truth is relative and changes with time. I was taught in that truth is eternal.(3) It was impressed upon my mind in such a way, as I shall never forget that God is the Father of us all and loves each of us with a greater love than we can comprehend. We must turn back to Him, not allowing Him to become a stranger to our nation.(4) We must come to an understanding that family is the center of their perfect society, and that we must not only retain it as the central unit of our society and safeguard it, but vastly strengthen it. For within those walls lie the answers to most of the problems facing our nation today.(5) I was once again reminded that, the founding fathers were inspired in their efforts and that America is destined to become the home of the New Jerusalem, the Zion of the last days, where all people who desire may reside in peace and love. I was told that God will protect America and her people as long as we serve Him. I was shown that if we do not turn back, as a people, to God, family and country, we will soon be destroyed.
